TORONTO, ON (February, 2009) – Delta introduces two new deck mount lavatory faucets to their commercial offering of products, ideal for healthcare and public facilities. Designed to meet the demand for modern electronic faucets with a geometrical design, these electronic lavatory faucets include sensors that detect the user's hand to activate water flow and operate using either six 1.5V AA batteries or can be hardwired. Featuring adjustable maximum run time and sensor range, the DEMD-311 and DEMD-301 faucets have the ability to offer above deck integral mixing capabilities.

A remote control is also available and provides the installer with a simple way to change options, flow times and sensor ranges. With its integrated water mixing capabilities, the DEMD-311 model does not require the installation of a mixing valve for tempering water, therefore significantly reducing installation costs.
